Latest news from CSR Europe

Collaboration – a mechanism to make exponential progress

There is a growing appreciation for collaboration as a mechanism to make big leaps forward. Indeed, many challenges to achieve societal and environmental progress can only be tackled in concert with other actors. D. Grayson, Chr. Coulter and M. Lee, authors of "All In – The Future of Business Leadership" explain how it works. Read more

The Sustainable Development Goals

Science has a lot to offer to Sustainable Development

The complexity of problems related to sustainable development calls for analyses on the interlinkages between SDGs, systemic approaches and long-term scenarios. CSR Europe interviews Eeva Furman, Director of the Environmental Policy Centre at SYKE. She explains how science has much to offer in this process. Read more
